The rules do not say anything about vacancies being filled up by grants to others. But unless we are in immediate need of such Hospl Asstts & cannot get them otherwise, this applt cant has no right to be selected. May a reply be given to this effect?

Mr Dewan

Councillor

The demand for Hospital assistants is constantly on the increase - The supply available is by no means equal to the demand. In fact of advertisements in the Madras Mail & other papers the Offg Secy

Surgeon was not able to get the men to come into Hospital for Massage work as sanctioned by Government a few months back since the Officers of higher grades did not attend as an inducement - It is now proposed, not to add to the Prescribed strength of our Medical pupils but to replace one of those who have received their training - No additional cost is thus involved - Vacancies being caused by death, resignation or otherwise, the Scholarships are being filled up - Under these circumstances I would give sanction as per draft - on the file - The necessary safeguards have been already laid down in that draft -
